

TRANSFORMING AUSTRALIAN SCHOOLS CONFERENCE

This two-day conference will develop your leadership capabilities within the key areas of staff wellbeing, adaptive leadership, culture and providing feedback. The program aims to develop the skills, knowledge, frameworks, and confidence to thrive in the complex leadership challenges faced in today's school environment. Streams covered are:

- Understanding the impact of relationships on school wellbeing
- Exploring adaptive leadership for women in schools: Beyond technical responses
- Growing a school culture that matters
- Communication, rapport and feedback

All streams are designed to meet the needs of leaders at all levels within schools. The conference will be a transformative experience, both professionally and personally, in the way you lead change. NESLI is a global provider of responsive and customised professional learning programs that focus on school leadership and wellbeing. We support leadership excellence across the Australian K-12 education system through working with individual leaders, school leadership teams, school regions, dioceses and state and territory departments.
